24 the individual. It is not necessary for the amount of control to extend to all 25 the details of the physical performance of the duties performed by an 26 individual for an employer to consider the individual an employee of the 27 employer.

28 "§ 95-278. Prohibited conduct.

29          (a) An employer shall not improperly classify an individual who performs work for 30 remuneration provided by an employer as an independent contractor.

34 a corporation, partnership, limited liability corporation, or other entity, or pay or collect a fee

36 entity for the purpose, in whole or part, of facilitating, or evading detection of, a violation of 37 this section.

38          (d) No person shall require or request an individual to enter into an agreement or sign a 39 document that results in the misclassification of the individual as an independent contractor or 40 otherwise does not accurately reflect the individual's relationship with an employer.

41          (e) A person shall not knowingly conspire with, aid and abet, assist, advise, or facilitate 42 an employer with the intent of violating the provisions of this Article.

43 "§ 95-279. Prohibited retaliation.

2           (3)   Testified or prepared to testify, assisted or participated in any manner in an
3           investigation or proceeding under this Article.

4           (c)   No employer shall attempt to cause or cause an individual to waive the provisions of 5           this act or to enter into a predispute agreement which waives the right to a trial by jury.

6    "§ 95-280. No waivers by agreement.

7           Except as provided in this Article, no provision of this Article may in any way be waived,
8           contravened, or set aside by private agreement, including the right to a private cause of action.

9    "§ 95-281. Causes of actions for certain violation; relief; jury trial.

10          (a)   An individual, interested party, or labor organization aggrieved by a violation of 11          G.S. 95-278 or G.S. 95-279 may commence a civil action on its own behalf or on behalf of any 12          other individual who is similarly situated to the aggrieved individual, interested party, or labor
13          organization.

14          (b)   A civil action pursuant to this section must be brought within three years after the 15          occurrence of the alleged violation of the applicable sections of this Article. The three-year
16          period is tolled if the employer has deterred the ability of an individual to bring an action under 17          this section.

18          (c)   An action commenced pursuant to subsection (a) of this section may be brought in 19          the State court in the county where the alleged violation occurred, the county where the 20          complainant resides, or the county where the employer against whom the civil complaint is 21          filed resides or where the employer's principal place of business is located.

22          (d)   For purposes of this section, each violation of G.S. 95-278 or G.S. 95-279
23          constitutes a separate violation for each individual involved and for each day the violation
24          continues.

25          (e)   The party commencing an action pursuant to subsection (a) of this section shall have 26          the right to a trial by jury or before the court, at its election at the time it commences its civil 27          action.

28          (f)   If a court or a jury in a civil action brought pursuant to this division determines that
29          a violation of G.S. 95-278 or G.S. 95-279 has occurred, the court shall award to the plaintiff all
30          of the following:

31               (1)   The amount of any wages, salary, employment benefits, or other
32               compensation denied or lost to an individual by reason of the violation, plus
33               an equal amount in liquidated damages, provided, however, that said
34               liquidated damages shall equal double the amount of wages due for each 35               violation of this act for each violation that was knowingly committed.

36               (2)   Compensatory damages.

37               (3)   All equitable, including injunctive, relief that the court determines to be 38               appropriate.

39               (4)   Attorneys' fees and costs.

40    "§ 95-282. Burdens of proof.

41          (a)   In making a determination whether an individual is an independent contractor
42          within the meaning of G.S. 95-278 or G.S. 95-279, an employer's failure to withhold federal or 43          State income taxes with respect to an individual shall not be a factor.

44          (b)   In making determinations under this section, the court shall determine that an 45          individual is an employee if the control exercised by the party paying remuneration to the 46          individual is general in nature and is exercised directly or indirectly over the physical activities
47          of the individual. It is not necessary for the amount of control to extend to all the details of the 48          physical performance of the duties performed by an individual for an employer to consider the 49          individual an employee of the employer.

50    "§ 95-283. Notices.

1        If an employer engages an individual to perform services and that individual is not
2 considered by the employer to be an employee pursuant to G.S. 95-278, that employer shall
3 post and keep posted, in a conspicuous place on each job site where that individual performs
4 services and in each of the employer's offices in the State, in English and Spanish, the 5 following notice:

6            (1) Every individual working for a contractor has the right to be properly
7 classified by the contractor as an employee rather than an independent
8 contractor if the individual does not meet the requirements of an independent
9 contractor under the law known as the Employee Fair Classification Act.

10          (2) If you believe you or someone else has not been properly classified as an 11 employee or an independent contractor under the Employee Fair
12 Classification Act, you have the right to challenge this classification by 13 bringing an action in State civil district court."

14            SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law and applies to employment
15 existing on or after that date.
